

I signed up for Wisconsin's No-Call List to avoid the exact kind of calls the Consumer Banking Association is trying to force our state to allow. I think the FCC would be misusing its authority if it allows big business to impose its presence on people who've decided they don't want these calls coming into their homes.